Auditions set for Summer Theatre’s Season 51

By Krys Zorbaugh
Staff Writer

Auditions for Minot State University’s Summer Theatre’s Season 51 will be held in the Aleshire Theater in Hartnett Hall, Feb. 12, 5 to 7 p.m. and Feb. 13, 2 to 4 p.m.

The four possible productions for Season 51 include, “Clue, The Musical,” “Middle of Nowhere,” “Mid-Life Crisis the Musical,” “Schoolhouse Rock,” “Noises Off” and “Pippin.”

In addition to cold readings, actors should come prepared with 32 bars from any Broadway show tune and a one-minute comic monologue. Actors are advised to come dressed for movement during their audition.

Audition DVDs are accepted and must showcase vocal, acting and movement capabilities. The deadline for DVD submissions is Feb. 12. Cast lists will be posted on Feb. 27. Rehearsals for productions begin May 21.

The MSU Amphitheater, set in the grass-lined hillside north of the campus, is the home of the Summer Theatre Company.

News in Brief

Suits and Sneakers challenge today

Help Minot State University athletics join the American Cancer Society in bringing awareness to the fight against cancer through the Suits and Sneakers Challenge. MSU campus members will trade their dress shoes for sneakers to bring awareness to the fight.

Collect donations and wear sneakers to work Feb. 4. In addition to raising money to fight cancer, wearing sneakers acts as a simple reminder to live a healthy and active lifestyle. This is an opportunity to inspire hope by raising funds and awareness to help those facing the disease.

Special American Cancer Society donation buckets will be located in the Dome, Student Success Center, the Center for Engaged Teaching and Learning, the Swain Hall training room, Beaver Creek Cafe, the Wellness Center and the MSU Bookstore.

Minot State asks everyone to collect workplace donations and bring them to Saturday’s basketball games when the Beavers take on MSU-Mankato during the Coaches vs. Cancer games at 4 and 6 p.m. For more information, contact Josh Sandy at joshua.sandy@minotstateu.edu.

Carlen Gilseth to present on Bertolt Brecht Tuesday

The Northwest Art Center’s lecture series continues with “The Theater of Bertolt Brecht” presented by Carlen Gilseth, assistant professor of communication arts. This event will be in Aleshire Theater at 7 p.m. on Feb. 9.

Bertolt Brecht, the German dramatist, is often misunderstood, especially in theatrical practice. East German papers and documents that have recently been uncovered shed new light on Brecht’s vision of a politicized, interventionist theater. Come hear how Gilseth plans to use this new evidence in his production of “The Chalk Circle” in April at MSU.

The lecture is free and open to the public. An informal reception with refreshments will follow the program. This project is supported in part by a grant from the North Dakota Council on the Arts, which receives funding from the state legislature and the National Endowment for the Arts. For more information, contact NAC Director Avis Veikley at nac@minotstateu.edu.

Celebrate Mardi Gras with Sodexo on Tuesday

The New Orleans carnival comes to Minot State University Dining Hall this year with lots of food and celebration. Mardi Gras draws millions of fun seekers to New Orleans every year for masked balls, colorful parades and great food.

Sodexo invites everyone to join them for the best of southern food and lots of fun at its Mardi Gras Celebration Feb. 9 from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. This event is open to the public. Cost is $9.50 per person, or one card swipe for students with a meal plan. All are welcome.

3 ways to quickly pay down college debt

By Metro Creative

Student loan debt is a big concern for today’s newly minted college graduates. According to an analysis of government data by Edvisors.com, a website that provides financial information about college to students and parents, the average student in the class of 2015 will graduate with more than $35,000 in student debt. That figure is roughly $2,000 more than the class of 2014 graduates faced upon receiving their degrees.

With such substantial debts, it’s no wonder many college graduates find themselves looking for ways to pay down that debt as quickly as possible once they leave campus life behind. Paying down college debt may seem daunting at first, but the following are some ways for recent grads to get out from under that debt sooner rather than later.

1. Pay more than you owe.

The best way to reduce the principal on student loans quickly is to pay more than you owe each month. Once the repayment grace period ends, grads will see what their monthly student loan payment is. Paying more than that amount each month can drastically reduce your repayment period, and you will consider less in interest over the life of the loan. For example, a graduate who owes $25,000 and pays six percent interest annually for 10 years will pay roughly $278 per month to eliminate that loan in exactly 120 months. Over those 120 months, grads will have paid more than $8,300 in interest in addition to their $25,000 principal. However, grads who pay an additional $50 per month will pay their loans off nearly two years earlier and pay nearly $2,000 less in interest over the life of the repayment.

2. Arrange for automatic deposits into a repayment fund.

One of the more difficult parts of repaying student loans for recent grads is setting aside enough money to pay them off. Upon landing their first professional jobs, new grads are often making more money than they’ve ever earned in the past, and many have no idea how to manage their newfound financial windfalls. In addition to making your monthly payments via your everyday checking account, arrange for automatic deposits into a savings account you will exclusively use to repay your student loans so you are not tempted to spend that money on more frivolous pursuits. You won’t miss the money if you don’t see it going out of your account.

2016 semester greetings

by Alex Nelson
Staff Writer

Hello readers, I hope many of you enjoyed the Christmas break and the New Year. For those of you just beginning your college education, I hope the experience will be a good one.

First, a quick mini review for some of the films that came out during the previous weeks. “The Forest,” 2 out of 5 Beavers, “Point Break,” 3 out of 5 Beavers, “Sisters,” 3 out of 5 Beavers, “Daddy’s Home,” 3 out of 5 Beavers and finally, “Star Wars The Force Awakens,” 5 out of 5 Beavers.

New movies such as “Kung Fu Panda 3,” “The Finest Hours” and “Jane’s Got A Gun” are only a few of the new releases coming out this semester.

On Feb. 12, Ryan Reynolds, as the merc with the mouth, comes to town in “Deadpool,” based on the Marvel comic book character, and is rated “R.” Also, Feb. 12, Ben Stiller and Owen Wilson star as male models who must save the world in “Zoolander 2,” rated PG-13.

On March 4, Ginnifer Goodwin and Jason Bateman team up as Rabbit, Judy Hopps, and Fox, Nick Wilde, in Disney’s “Zootopia,” rated PG.

On March 18, fans of the “Divergent” series will once again see Shailene Woodley and Theo James as rebels Tris and Four in “Divergent: Allegiant,” rated PG-13.

These are only a few of the many films that are coming soon to the theater in Minot. Stay alert for future reviews, and I hope that you have a good semester. See you at the movies.

Tips for adult students returning to school

By Metro Creative

Adults return to school for a variety of reasons. Some might be spurred by a desire to pursue a new career, while others might go back to school to learn more about their existing field and improve their career prospects. While their reasons for returning to school may differ, many adults find themselves battling some nerves as they begin the process of going back to school.

Feelings of doubt are common among adults returning to school. But there are steps all adult students can take to reduce their anxiety and make the most of the often-exciting experience of going back to school.

• Start slow. Unlike more traditional college students, adults returning to school tend to have significant responsibilities, including families and careers. Juggling work and family is difficult on its own, but doing so along with college coursework is even harder. Adult students returning to school after a long layoff would be wise to take things slowly at first, so they and their families can gradually adjust to their new schedules. Many schools now offer online courses, which can be especially beneficial for working professionals.

• Have a plan. Many adults only return to school when they know exactly what they want to study or which courses they need to take to complete a degree or earn a certificate. If you have not already mapped out such a plan, do so before enrolling in any classes. The cost of a college education has no doubt increased considerably since you last stepped foot on campus, so you don’t want to be signing up for costly classes that will not help you accomplish what you hope to accomplish by returning to school.

• Research your options. Just because you are an adult returning to school does not mean you are ineligible for scholarships or other forms of financial aid. The United States Department of Labor maintains a scholarship search engine at www.careerinonet.org where students of all ages and academic levels can search for scholarships, grants and other financial aid opportunities to determine if they are eligible for some help paying for tuition. In addition, adults returning to school may want to discuss their plans with their employers, especially if they are looking to continue working in their current fields. Employers may have programs in place to subsidize employees looking to continue their education.

• Don’t be discouraged. Many adults mulling a return to school are hesitant to do so because they feel as if they will be the only older students in classrooms filled with millennials. However, the National Center for Education Statistics predicts a 14 percent increase in enrollment of students 25 and older between 2011 and 2021, suggesting that adults going back to school are unlikely to be the only
How college students can eat healthy

By Metro Creative

If asked to reflect on their college years, many graduates likely would not recall healthy eating habits. College students are often pressed for time and short on funds, so a nutritious diet is often sacrificed for the sake of convenience and cost.

But a healthy diet can help college students handle the stresses of college life more effectively. The following are a handful of easy ways college students can improve their diets’ nutritional value without breaking the bank.

• Eat breakfast. College students tend to stay up late and sleep in, but sleeping in at the expense of a healthy breakfast can impact performance in the classroom and make students more likely to overeat later in the day. A bowl of cereal with some fresh fruit is not an especially expensive breakfast, but it can help college students start their day off on an energetic and healthy note.

• Snack healthy. Many students find snacks are an integral part of hours-long study sessions. But trips to the vending machine for candy bars or potato chips won’t add much nutritional value to your diet. Instead of being at the mercy of vending machines, bring healthy snacks along during study sessions. Fresh fruit, raw vegetables, Greek yogurt and whole wheat crackers are just a few snacks that pack a more-nutritious punch than traditional vending machine fare. Healthy snacks also tend to provide more energy, making it easier to endure late-night study sessions.

• Make pizza healthier. Pizza is a staple of many college students’ diets, so it’s likely unrealistic for them to quit pizza cold turkey, especially since there are ways to make pizza healthier. When ordering a pizza, college students can request their pizza be prepared with whole wheat dough, which is healthier than traditional pizza dough. In addition, ask for less cheese and more tomato sauce. Such alterations are simple and healthy without sacrificing taste.

• Scale back on sugar. Sugar can cause weight gain without providing much in the way of nutrition. College students can cut back on their sugar intake by avoiding sugary beverages, including soda and drinks, like sweetened iced tea or lemonade.

College is also when many young men and women first start drinking coffee, which some people prefer to take with sugar. But students looking to keep weight off and reduce their sugar intake can choose to drink their coffee black or with just light cream or fat-free milk to ensure their morning cup of joe is not contributing to a bigger waistline.

• Drink more water. The symptoms of dehydration mimic those of hunger, and college students might turn to snacks when all they really need is a glass of water. If you find yourself snacking shortly after eating a meal, then you might just need to drink more water.

Few college students prioritize healthy eating habits. But these are some inexpensive ways for on-the-go students to enjoy healthy diets.

you never get used to having it, and you will celebrate the day the balance in your student loan savings account matches the payoff amount on your student loan balance.

3. Make plans.

Failure to make a plan is one way to miss the opportunity to pay off your college debt as quickly as possible. Make specific financial goals, such as owning your own home in ‘X’ amount of years or saving money for postgraduate tuition. Having specific goals and plans in place can provide the motivation you need to pay down college debt sooner rather than later.

Student loan debt intimidates many recent graduates. But those who stay disciplined can repay their loans quickly and regain some financial freedom as a result.
MSU’s New Music Ensemble to perform Tuesday

The inaugural concert of the Minot State University New Music Ensemble is Tuesday, Feb. 9, at 7:30 p.m. in Ann Nicole Nelson Hall.

The student ensemble focuses on music written from the late 20th century into modern time. The first concert of the semester will focus on the abstract works of John Cage, Karlheinz Stockhausen and Morton Feldman, who each individually used controlled-chance procedures to frame their musical universe. Each composer was largely responsible for challenging and changing the very definitions of art music and listening, and the concert is intended to inform both the performers and the audience.

The concert will include detailed program notes and introductions of all selections, and it promises to be intellectually enlightening and emotionally moving for all involved.

This is the first of three planned performances for the New Music Ensemble this semester, with each to focus on a new aesthetic trend in the modern period.

The Minot State University hockey team has been on a roll the month of January. MSU headed to the neutral site of Crosby, N.D. earlier this week to take on Williston State in the annual Crosby Cup. The Beavers' offense put up an impressive 11 total goals on the Teton, with seven of them being in the second period alone. MSU would seal the deal 11-4 over Williston.

Moving on to this weekend, the number-three ranked Minot State Beavers took on the Midland Warriors, the team that gave the Beavers their first loss of the season back in November. The Beavers began the first period on a roll in game one with goals from Cole Olson and Sam Briscoe, yet Midland answered back at the end of the period making the score 2-1.

The third period started off hot with Brett Nespor finding the back of the net, giving the Beavers a 3-1 lead. The Warriors again answered back towards the end of the second, making it 3-2 going into the final period. With under 10 minutes on the clock, Midland tied the game up on a power play, sending the game into overtime.

In overtime, with both teams offering up multiple shots on goal, none would find the net, taking the game into a shootout. MSU's Holden Kurtz made the save and Dylan Johnson finished the job in the shootout, giving the Beavers a 4-3 win. MSU hockey will be back on the ice Saturday taking on Williston State, with the puck drop at 5 p.m.

Beavers off to a great start

Audet breaks school record in 60-meter hurdles

(MSU Sports Information) —

5 titlists highlight indoor opener at Bemidji

Minot State University had five individual champions and multiple runners-up as the Beavers made their 2016 Indoor Track & Field debut Saturday, Jan. 16, at the Bemidji State Super 8 Open.

Four of the five individual champions came from the MSU women’s program. Erin Winterton (Fr.) had a successful debut to her collegiate career with a title in the women’s 60-meter dash with an 8.37 seconds finish. Dijah Silva (Sr.) paced the pack in the women’s 200-meters finishing at 27.54 seconds, DelRay Audet (Sr.) won the 60-meter hurdles with a time of 9.61 and Kira Gilbreath (So.) was crowned champion in the shot put with a throw of 39-feet-9¼. The individual champion on the men’s side was Farai Madungwe (Sr.) in the triple jump with 45-feet-1.

Personal bests and school record broken at SDSU

14 personal bests, two event champions and one broken school record made the South Dakota State Jim Emmrich Invitational on Jan. 22, and second indoor event for the MSU track and field team, a success.

Clarence Hardy (Fr.) and Kaleb Kirby (So.) won the men’s long jump and men’s pole vault, respectively. Hardy won his event with a personal best 6.50-meter jump while Kirby won with a mark of 4.40 meters. Another young competitor finishing high was sophomore Randii Widmer who placed second in the women’s triple jump with a 10.10-meter mark.

“Randii has never done indoor,” Melby said. “Last year she competed in outdoor, but she wasn’t ready for indoor. Her personal best last year was 10.13 and now she jumped 10.10. She was really consistent and kept getting better with each jump she had today.”

Melby was pleased with Widmer and the other underclassmen, pointing out that several of them had broken their personal records after buying into the program. Several upperclassmen broke their personal records, as well, including senior Audet, who broke the school record in the 60-meter hurdles with a time of 9.34.

Beavers claim three titles at Cobber Duals

Minot State had two individual event winners and another champion relay team at the Concordia College Cobber Duals Saturday.

Pacing the men’s team was Kirby (So.) who captured his second title in three indoor events in the pole vault, and the MSU 4x200-meter relay team of Tyler Bates (Fr., sprints), Chiti Nkhuwa (Fr., sprints), Dylan Harvey (Jr., hurdles) and Madungwe. The women’s team also had an event winner as Samantha Huether (Jr.) captured her first title of the season in the 800-meters. Huether finished at 2:30.79.

Kirby cleared 14-feet-6¼ to take the title by just under six inches. He won the pole vault last week at the South Dakota State D2 Invite with a 4.40-meter effort and bested that Saturday with a 4.43-meter leap.

MSU’s 4x200 relay team topped fellow Northern Sun competitor Northern State by a little more than a second to win in the finals. MSU raced to a 1 minute, 33.52 second time.

Saturday, the Beavers travel to the Ted Nelson Classic at Minnesota State.

Baseball season to begin Friday

By Isaac Hunt
Sports Writer

The Minot State University baseball team will begin its season this tomorrow in a four-game stint against the College of Idaho. The Beavers will look to improve upon their 11-34 record and 14th place finish from 2015.

With 14 players returning and 16 players new to the team the Beavers will look to both sets of players for help this season.

Two standouts from last season, who were named Minot State’s 2016 Players to Watch, are Jordan Schulz (OF, Jr.) and Austin Berntson (LHP, Sr.).

Schulz started 44 games for the Beavers last season in his debut season. He hit a team-high 14 home runs, which ranked fourth in the NSIC. With a batting average of .295 he scored 41 runs and batted in another 45. Schulz drew a team-high 26 walks and stole 12 bases on 16 attempts.

Bernston played in 38 games and made 10 starts as a pitcher. The lefty won two games and struck out a team-high 46 batters. When facing other pitchers, Bernston had a batting average of .322 tallying a total of 14 runs and 20 RBIs.

The Beavers retain the majority of their batting from last season with returners accounting for 58 percent of all runs and 67 percent of their RBIs. They also bring back 57 percent of their extra-base hits, including 78 percent of their home runs.

Minot State will need more help in their pitching as it is losing players that contributed over half of its wins and strikeouts.

With seven college transfers, seven incoming freshmen and two freshmen who redshirted last season MSU will receive help on both ends. Four of the seven college transfers are pitchers, while two of the incoming freshmen and one redshirt will be eligible to take the mound as well this season.

The Beavers also brought in some hometown help with University of North Dakota transfer Hunter Oothoudt (UTL, So.) who competed for the Fighting Hawks tennis team before coming to back to Minot.

MSU will compete in its first game on Feb. 5 at the College of Idaho. The game’s starting time is still to be appointed.
Grapplers defeat Jamestown, succumb to No. 2 St. Cloud

By Isaac Hunt
Sports Writer

With a total of four forfeits, the Minot State University wrestling team only competed in six matches against Jamestown. All six, however, were competitive and entertaining for the packed crowd at the MSU Dome last week.

Despite a quick pin and two matches where zeroes sat on one side of the scoreboard, each match was aggressive.

"We did a nice job even in a couple of those losses," head Coach Evan Forde said. "They had a national finalist in their lineup, and we battled him tough. I was pretty happy with all six of our matches."

The evening started out with three forfeits at the 197, heavyweight and 125 classes, putting the Beavers up 12-6 before the first match. After a loss and another forfeit, the score sat at 18-10 before Cody Haugen pinned his opponent in the 149 matchup in a time of 1:49.

"One thing we've really been stressing is that we give up a lot more pins than we get, so it was great to come out on top in that regard," Forde said. "Cody's not a guy that gets a ton of pins, so it was great to see him go out and get that."

Winning three of the last four matches, the Beavers came out on top, 33-14, for the first time after a seven-match slide.

"We needed a win," Forde said. "We were on a little bit of a losing streak there for a while, and we needed a confidence builder. It was good that we wrestled with intensity and went out to take care of business."

It was a different story Friday evening when the Beavers took on No. 2 St. Cloud State and were shut out, 50-0.

After forfeiting their first two matches, the Beavers started the competition at the 141 class with Tanner Crissler (So.) dropping a competitive 4-2 match. Two points were awarded to the Huskies due to a total of four cautions issued to Crissler throughout the three periods.

In the next match, a 6-0 loss in the 145 class, Haugen also competed well, with neither wrestler scoring until an escape was awarded in the second period.

The following five matches, St. Cloud State collected 26 points as they earned two pins, one major decision and two technical falls.

The Beavers ended the dual as they began, with a forfeit in the heavyweight class resulting in the 50-0 final.

Minot State will compete again at Augustana tomorrow and at Southwest Minnesota State the following day. The dual against Augustana is scheduled for 7 p.m. while the contest against SMSU will begin at 3 p.m.
